

Entrepreneurial Women in Renewables Networking Event

'Smarter Working'

25 May 2017, TLT, Bristol

Agenda

Leading women in the renewables sector are not only shaping the policy and future direction of the industry, but also pioneering new ways of working.

This event will provide an opportunity for women working in the sector to explore smarter ways to work as well as providing insight from BEIS into the market opportunities as we move towards an energy system which is more decentralised, smarter and cleaner.

As with all EWIRE events, there will be excellent networking opportunities – aided by gin based cocktails.

16.30 Registration and drinks on arrival

17.00 Welcome and introductions

Jodie Giles, senior project manager, Regen

17.10 Flexible working – leading example of job sharing

Beth Chaudhary, head of smart energy, BEIS

17.30 Changing jobs in a changing market

Nicola Waters, chief operating officer, Push Energy

Q&A

18.10 Introduction to 'Ginopoly' networking collecting (and tasting) gin cocktails

Maria Connolly, head of real estate and head of energy and renewables, TLT

20.30 Close

Department for Business, Energy
& Industrial Strategy

